Grain Grading Workshop

Items covered during the workshop...

1. Grading review of all classes of eastern Canadian wheat including the ability to recognize and assess all grading factors as outlined in the Canadian Grain Commission's Grain Grading Guide
2. Grading review of soybeans including the ability to recognize and assess all grading factors as outlined in the Canadian Grain Commission's Grain Grading Guide
3. Grading review of corn including the ability to recognize and assess all grading factors as outlined in the Canadian Grain Commission's Grain Grading Guide
4. (Where requested by session participants) Grading review of canola including the ability to recognize and assess all grading factors as outlined in the Canadian Grain Commission's Grain Grading Guide
5. The use of Canadian Grain Commission standards and guides and how they relate to subjective grading factors for wheat
6. An understanding of the types and usages of basic grain grading equipment used in the grading of Canadian wheat, soybeans and corn
7. A basic understanding of the Canadian Grain Commission Grain Grading Guide and its applications in grading Canadian grain

The full-day beginner workshop will expand on the above items with lots of hands-on opportunity.

The half-day refresher workshop will be a fast paced, condensed version of the above for review/refresher purposes. Note: The refresher session is not intended for first time attendees or those with minimal grading experience.
