ONLINE Introductory Lead-Hand Training Program 1.0

OABA is pleased to announce an online introductory lead-hand training program

September 29, 2020

Targeting the Training Needs of Ontario's Agri Business Sector

NEW ALTERNATE DELIVERY FORMAT — ONLINE

Given the challenging times we are facing with COVID-19, we are pleased to offer this session in an alternative delivery format. While the session will be offered online, it will feel like a face-to-face session. We will keep the group small to allow for conversations and participation. Participants will be shipped materials/exercises ahead of time to complete for discussion during the session. The online session will be just as interactive as the face-to-face session, while giving participants the flexibility of participating remotely. The course will start in the morning and run approx. 5 hours in length, exact times to be confirmed. Access to a computer and solid Internet connection during this time is required.

Why does your firm need lead-hand training?

OABA's Introductory Lead-Hand Training Program 1.0 is an online training session that focuses on providing lead-hands, forepersons, yard supervisors, and other key operational staff the tools and techniques they need to be successful. Through participation in this one-day program, lead-hands will learn practical skills in three key areas, including: Culture, Communications & Teams; Performance Management; and Negotiation & Conflict Management.

CULTURE, COMMUNICATIONS & TEAMS - We will focus on techniques to communicate effectively and make effective decisions. Through some pre-work, a formal presentation, self-assessment exercise and actual "real world" examples, lead-hands will learn about communication techniques, decision making styles and biases, and team dynamics. In addition, lead-hands will reflect on the culture of their department or area within the company, and learn ways to improve the culture and 'make a difference'.

PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT - We will focus on managing and maximizing the performance of employees. Your lead-hands will learn about the importance of coaching, motivation, and develop a clear understanding of what motivates employees and how they can increase their motivation and subsequent job performance.

NEGOTIATION & CONFLICT MANAGEMENT - This session will focus on improving the negotiation and conflict management skills of your lead-hands, and will focus on inter-person and intra-group issues. Your lead-hands will be better equipped to use negotiation tactics effectively and use problem solving techniques with their employees.

Who Should Attend Introductory Lead-Hand Training?

This introductory online training program will add great value to the professional and personal development of all lead-hands and forepersons in your workplace, as well as increase the level of staff performance for your overall business operations. To ensure that individuals receive maximum value from their participation in this training program, firms are encouraged to be selective and strategic in choosing their participants.

Due to the interactive nature of the program, it is suggested that individual firms should refrain from registering multiple participants (for the same training session date) if they are directly accountable to each other in the management system. For maximum value to your firm and the individual employee, this "separation" will ensure that each participant can be open and fully engaged in the workshop program, without the influence or their supervisor/manager in attendance (or vice-versa). OABA has plans to offer this lead-hand supervisory training program on a regular basis, so you will have ample opportunity to get all your training completed!

It should be noted that multiple registrants in the same firm are permissible, providing they are not directly linked in the 'management chain' for the firm. This means that employees from the same firm, but working at different locations or different departments can register for the same workshop program. If you have any questions about the program or who should attend, please feel free to give the OABA office a call! All registrants attending the training will be issued a "Certificate of Attendance" confirming their participation in the training program.
